AN AUTO ACCIDENT CASE IS UP TODAY

LENA J. WRIGHT SUES GREAT EASTERN CASUALTY CO.

TROUBLE IN INSURANCE

B. G. Wright, Treasurer of Worth County, Was Killed Near Maryville Four Years Ago

The case of Lena J. Wright of Grant City against the Great Eastern Casualty Company for $5,000 on account of the death of her son, B. G. Wright, in an automobile accident three miles east of Maryville ,while he was on his way to attend the county fair four years ago, was up in circuit court today, with George Robb Ellison sitting as special judge. The case was up in circuit court here about a year and a half ago, also before Mr. Ellison as special judge, and the jury found for the full amount for the plaintiff. On a motion for a new trial, filed by the defendant, the judgment was set aside by the court, and an appeal was taken to the Kansas City Court of Appeals, which affirmed the decision of the lower court here.

B. G. Wright had a policy in this company in 1914 which paid $5,000 for death in an automobile accident. A different policy, one which excluded liability for death in an automobile accident, was issued to Mr. Wright, it is contended, in December, 1915. The plaintiff contends this policy was a renewal of the first one, while the insurance company, holding that this policy was a new one, believes it is not liable to pay claims on death in an automobile accident.

At the time of the accident in which Mr. Wright met his death, he was county treasurer of Worth county. A number of witnesses from Grant City are here in this case, among them J. F. Robertson, J. L. Dawson, J. F. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Childers, J. B. Matteson, Bruce Dubois and William Miller and William Campbell of Denver, Worth county.

The plaintiff is represented by M. E. Ford and Ellis G. Cook of this city R. P. Duncan of Stanberry and I. N. Carson of St. Joseph. The insurance company is represented by Judge J. H. Sayler of Maryville, J. C. Rosenberger of Kansas City and J. G. Matigan of the insurance company of New York

Judge Dawson and Court Stenographer Arthur Brewer left for Albany this morning, where Judge Dawson will convene the regular October term of circuit court of Gentry county. Miss Helen E. Cormaneny of St. Joseph is court stenographer at this session of court in Maryville this week.

The jury trying the Wright-Great Eastern case is composed of E. H. Bainum, Mike Sherlock, P. C. Hays, John Lorance, H. H. Yates, John Behm, Ed McMillan, John A. Wallace, Fred Diss, Frank Dinsmore, Fred Newlon and J. L. Partridge.

Carl Maul late Saturday received a judgment of $2,000 for services as a farm hand rendered to the late Lewis Snapp of Barnard. The suit, which was an appeal from the probate court, was directed against John D. Richey, administrator of the estate. The trial began most of last Friday and Saturday, the jury was out deliberating when Saturday afternoon while Carl Maul was pleading guilty in his own case. At the close of the Williams-Maul-Richey jury returned to court and gave its verdict.

Mr. Maul, who was suing for about $5,000, got a verdict for about $1,900 in the probate court hearing. The refendant today filed a motion for a new trial.

In the Taylor-Harman contract suit, which resulted in a verdict for the defendant, the plaintiff has filed a motion for a new trial.

The defendants have done the same in the Grundel-Cooper replevin suit, after a verdict against them.

The Curfman-Mason suit over a note has been settled and dismissed. Damages on the attachment bond were waived.

SAMUEL BENDER, MANY YEARS A SKIDMORE RESIDENT, DEAD

Had Lived There Since 1855; Was a Civil War Veteran; Funeral Tomorrow Afternoon

Samuel Bender, 76 years old and a resident of the Skidmore community since 1855, died at his home in Skidmore yesterday morning at 8 o'clock. He had been in ill health for a number of years and was an invalid for the past eleven years.

Funeral services will be held at the Bender home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Hoff and Rev. Welton. Burial will take place in the Masonic cemetery in that town.

Mr. Bender was a native of Boone county, Indiana, and was born November 12, 1843. He moved to Holt county with his parents in 1852 and spent his boyhood days and received his education in that county. He enlisted in November, 1861, in Company H of the Missouri State Militia, and in April, 1862, in the cavalry service, and was mustered out in August, 1865. He was married December 27, 1868, to Miss J. E. Roberts, a native of Highland county, Ohio.

Mrs. Bender and two sons, Bert Bender of Arco, Idaho, and Ed Bender of Loveland, Colo., survive.

Two More Marriage Licenses.

Marriage licenses were issued late Saturday afternoon to Cecil E. Allen of Bedford, Iowa, and Lela V. Prather of Hopkins and to Lloyd R. Lyle of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Cora Gehr of Maryville.

IDEAS CONFLICTING ON STEEL STRIKE

WORKERS HAVE WON IT, SAYS A CHICAGO LEADER

WILL PENALIZE MEN OUT

Steel Corporation Warns the Calumet Hold-outs They Will Lose Pensions and All Rights

Chicago, Oct. 20.—John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago federation of Labor, declaring "union workers are holding fast and are not returning to work to the steel mills as reported" and calling attention to large fund pledged yesterday by the Chicago union workers to aid the steel strikers, declared today the steel strike had been won by the workers."

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Unless the striking steel workers in the Calumet district return to work not later than next Wednesday, they will lose their jobs, pensions and all priority rights. This is the flat ultimatum delivered to the strikers today in letters mailed by the United States steel corporation. Similar letters are said to have been mailed strikers in all sections of the country.

"No Compromise" in Coal Strike.

Washington, Oct. 20.—"We will discuss no compromise" was the statement made today by Lewis, acting president of the mine workers, relative to the conference of the miners and operators with Secretary of Labor Wilson tomorrow in an attempt to forestall the threatened coal strike.

GARDNER PROMISES TO HAVE K. C. MAN IN SUPREME COURT

Location Wins for J. I. Williamson Over J. Woodson Peery, Albany; R. L. Goode an Appointee

Jefferson City, Oct. 20. — Governor Gardner has announced the appointment of R. L. Goode, former judge of the St. Louis court of appeals, to succeed the late Chief Justice Henry W. Bond of the supreme court, and said he would appoint John I. Williamson of Kansas City to succeed Judge C. V. Faris of the supreme court, who was appointed judge of the federal court for the St. Louis district. Judge Faris' nomination has been confirmed by the United States senate, but has not yet received his commission, and he will not resign until it is received.

(The Nodaway County Bar and Northwest Missouri generally backed Judge J. Woodson Peery of Albany for Judge Faris' place).

"In view of the fact Judge Dyer and Judge Bond both were from St. Louis, I have felt that one of these appointments should go to that city," the governor said. "I have, therefore, offered this appointment to Judge Robert L. Goode, dean of the Washington University Law School.

"The bar of Kansas City has not been represented on the supreme bench for twenty-five years and I share the opinion of the people o f the central and western part of the state that the second appointment should go to Kansas City. I have, therefore, decided that when Judge Faris' resignation is received I will appoint John I. Williamson of Kansas City to fill the vacancy. Mr. Williamson's name was the only one presented by Kansas City and he has the uninaminous indorsement of the bar of that city and lawyers generally from the central and western part of the state."

Mrs. Frank Roelofson went to St. Joseph this morning for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Paul Sawyers, and family.

CAMPAIGN IS ON TO OBTAIN ROOMS FOR THE TEACHERS

Prospects Are Being Called Up Today; Building is Prepared for the Registration

The Chamber of Commerce is increasing its efforts to see that accommodations are provided for the teachers who will be here this week at the meeting of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association. Misses Mary Condon and Helen Dean of the State Teachers College this morning were assisting Miss Ella Farrell, secretary to the secretary of the chamber, in the campaign to obtain room for the visitors. They were calling up all prospective renters or rooms and listing the results for easy reference.

Additional rooms are still necessary, according to George A. Pickens, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and any person who has rooms that have not been listed is urged to call the office.

The Zook building on Main street is being cleared out today to be in readiness to serve as the registration headquarters for the teachers. Furniture and stationery will be put in to serve the visitors, who are to be conducted there from the trains and there assigned to rooms.

TAX BOOKS PREPARED FOR COLLECTION OF $53,698.92

Increase of $6,000 Is Noted in Collections From Railroads, Telegraphs, Telephones, etc.

Fred Wright, deputy county clerk, who every now and then completes some part of the tax record, this morning had ready the books for the taxes that are to be collected this year from the railroads, telegraph companies, telephone companies and electric light companies that operate in Nodaway county.

An increase of $6,000 in the receipts from this source will be noted this year. Last year's taxes were $47,655.94. This year the total is $53,698.92. The increase comes from increased valuation.

The tax this year is divided as follows: state tax, $5,048.97; county tax, $11,219.90; school building tax, $2,837.32; teachers and incidental tax, $17,685.97; incorporation tax, $2,240.56; township tax, $2,205.52; road and bridge tax, $7,012.70; road bond tax, $4,848.88.

These taxes will be collected by the county treasurer, who is county collector under the present system.

KANSAS CITY TO ENTERTAIN ITS VISITING SECRETARIES

G. A. Pickens of Maryville Among Those to Assemble There for Trip to Indianapolis

That Kansas City knows how to be hospitable is evidenced in a letter received by George A. Pickens this morning from the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Pickens, who is secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, is planning to go to the convention of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries in Indianapolis the last few days of this month. He will leave Maryville next Saturday morning, October 25, and will go from Kansas City with the delegation that the Chamber of Commerce there is sending that night.

Secretaries from over the state who gather in Kansas City that day are to be entertained, the letter said. Mr. Pickens will be there in time for all of it. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon there will be an automobile ride over the city, ending at the Muehlebach Hotel where dinner will be served in the Plantation Grill at 6:30. This will be followed by a theatre party at the new Newman theatre, said to be one of the finest motion picture houses in this part of the country.

At 11 o'clock that night the delegation will leave for Indianapolis. Berths have been reserved for the visiting secretaries.

Builds New Type of Barn.

Will B. Gex of east of Graham, the well known Poland-China breeder, was in Maryville today. Mr. Gex has been attracting considerable attention around Graham by building a round barn with a silo in the middle. The barn is sixty feet in diameter, is built of clay tile and has a self-supporting hip roof. The promised efficiency of this sort of building is expected to make it a pattern for all the country around Graham, as farmers are driving in every day to look at it.

Thomas Farrell, Jr., of Maryville left Saturday night for Kimball, Neb., for a week's business visit.

3-YEAR SENTENCE TO CAL WILLIAMS

JUDGE DAWSON REFUSES PAROLE IN MOTOR CAR CASE

ENTERS PLEA OF GUILTY

Defendant, However, Presents a Petition for Clemency; Charge Is Receiving Stolen Goods

Declaring that any considerable leniency in automobile stealing cases is wrong at this time and that the man who knowingly accepts a stolen car is as bad as the man who steals it, Judge John M. Dawson late Saturday afternoon refused a parole to Cal Williams, whom he had just sentenced to three years in the penitentiary on a charge of receiving stolen property. Williams is a farmer living southwest of Maryville.

A petition containing the names of more than 150 farmers and business men had been presented with the plea of guilty that George Robb Ellison entered for the defendant. Judge Dawson looked this through, but if it influenced him in the least he made no mention of the fact. The only things that he mentioned as keeping him from setting the maximum penalty of ten years or something near it were the facts of Williams 'previous good record and his family, which was present in court.

When the sentence was given and the parole refused, Williams' mother, wife and sisters burst into tears, and their sobbing punctuated the closing argument between Judge Dawson on the one side and Mr. Ellison and W. A. Blagg, attorneys for the defendant, on the other. When all hope of a parole was gone, one of the women became hysterical and had to be led from the court room.

In asking for a parole, the attorneys brought up the matter of the parole that had been granted earlier in the session to George W. Butler, when he pleaded guilty to forgery, his second offense. The cases were not similar, the judge held, as Butler's youth was a factor in his favor.

The offense for which Williams is to serve three years was committeed late in August or early in September, when, according to his own story, he traded his own car for one offered him by a man who stopped at his house. This car fell under suspicion when Williams drove it into Maryville carrying license plates from Deputy Sheriff Leo Atherton's car, which had previously been stolen and recovered. The car in Williams' possession was identified as one stolen from an Andrew county farmer at the county fair at Savannah. Material which had been left in the car was found in Williams' possession. When the car was returned to the Andrew county man, Williams again took possession of his own car, which had lain unclaimed at a Maryville garage.

After Williams' earlier plea of not guilty had been withdrawn Saturday afternoon, the statement of the case for the state was made by Prosecuting Attorney Charles F. McCaffrey. Mr. Ellison made the plea for the defendant, deprecating the extreme rigor of the law and calling attention to the previous good record of his client. He pointed out certain aspects of the case that tended to show the good intentions of the defendant and ended by presenting the petition for clemency.

A large crowd was in court and listened with great attention to the presentation of the case. Among the women particularly, sympathy with the defendant's family was apparent, and the number of dry eyes in the court decreased considerably when the parole was refused.

Williams originally had been held on two charges, one of grand larceny and one of receiving stolen property. The prosecuting attorney had a nolle pros entered for the first charge. Williams pleaded guilty to the second only.

Sheriff John F. Dowden left Sunday morning with his prisoner for Jefferson City. He returned to Maryville this noon.

On the same trip the sheriff also took to prison Floyd Weaver, who was sentenced some time ago for stealing a Ford touring car belonging to Ernest Glover of Maryville.

Mrs. J. B. Robinson and her sister, Mrs. M. J. Loyd of Wichita, Kan., went to St. Joseph yesterday morning to visit another sister, Mrs. Chilton. Mr. Robinson left this morning for St. Joseph.

THEY HAD ABOUT EVERYTHING EXCEPT THE BABY ITSELF

County Treasurer and Mrs. James Blagg Created Something of a Sensation in the West End

Residents of the west end were surprised as well as amused last evening to see County Treasurer and Mrs. James Blagg, of whom nothing of the the sort had been expected, parading down the street on their way to church the county treasurer trundling a baby carriage and Mrs Blagg carrying a milk bottle that could have been intended for but one purpose. The wonder grew when the arrived at the South Methodist church.

It was all explained, however, when Mrs. Charley Thorp of East First street took possession of the property. Mrs. Thorp and her four children had been dinner guests of the Blaggs yesterday noon at their home on West Third street. Going home after dinner, they took a jitney, and the carriage wouldn't fit. So they left it with the Blaggs, on the understanding that it would be delivered at the church. The bottle was overlooked and was delivered, too, and that is all there was to it.

282 CHILDREN ENROLLED FOR THE SHOW THIS WEEK

Lists Close Today for Nodaway County Agricultural and Domestic Science Association

Today was the last day for enrollment of the children f the county county schools in the Nodaway County Agricultural and Domestic Science Association, which will hold its annual show at the State Teachers College during the session of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers Association the last three days of this week. Up to noon today, County Superintendent Bert Cooper had received blanks filled out by 282 children. It is expected that most of these will be represented in the show, all entries for which are to be in Maryville by Thursday noon.

Every contestant, whether a winner or not, will receive a souvenir of the show—the girls, a pair of knitting needles; the boys, a knife. These are real prizes and alone are worth the trouble of sending in an entry.

Paul Sisson of Maryville has been named to take charge of the farmers' and corn breeders' part of the show, which is open to all. Mrs. W. O. Griffey, assistant director of vitalized agriculture work in the county, will take care of the boys' and girls' agricultural and domestic science exhibits. A committee, previously announced, will take care of the vitalized agriculture exhibits, under the direction of Mrs. Griffey.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Glenn of Kansas City came Saturday night to visit their daughter, Mrs. Fred Harvey, and Mr. Harvey. Mr. Glenn returned to Kansas City this morning, leaving Mrs. Glenn for an indefinite stay.

MUST EMPLOYERS MEET WORKMEN?

THIS IS SOLE ISSUE BEFORE INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE

JUDGE GARY YET FIRM

Committee of Fifteen is Obliged to Ask More Time at Opening of Session After Recess

Washington, Oct. 20.—The industrial conference, when it met today after a recess since Friday, found that the sole issue before the conference was whether or not American employers have the duty of meeting representatives f workmen coming from outside their factories. The committee of fifteen was obliged to ask more time at the hour for opening the conference this morning, it was learned at noon today. Judge Gary, who returned to Washington this morning, has not in any essential way changed his attitude in regard to opposition to the Gompers resolution.

They Had a Long, Hard Trip.

E. T. Orr and Frank Yarnell of Ravenwood returned yesterday from Tampa, Fla., where they went to visit Mr. Orr's sister, Mrs. J. J. Hazel. They traveled in Mr. Orr's Ford, covered 4,200 miles and were gone five weeks. They came across the Cumberland mountains in Kentucky, where the rocks were so bad that they completely cut up the tires in a short distance. The travelers doubled their tires, putting old casings over their good ones, buying more old ones as the others wore out.

Corn Added to C. of C. Collection.

Winslow Brothers, who live on the Malvern farm, near Burlington Junction, have added five ears of corn to the collection in the office of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce. This corn, which was planted June 18, is known as "cash" corn and ordinarlily takes from eighty-five to ninety days to mature.

More Hunting Licenses Issued.

County Clerk Fred Smith reports that the hunting license business is picking up as the ducks get more numerous. The 445 county licenses that had been issued up to a short time ago have increased to 472, and Mr. Smith has hopes of reaching his goal of 500 before the 1919 season ends.

Weather for Today

Partly cloudy and cooler in the west and central portions, probably showers in the extreme east portion tonight; Tuesday generally fair.

GETS $1,000,000 FOR SUFFERINGS

American Actress Kept Prisoner by Egyptian Husband.

WINS THE LOVE OF PRINCE

Ola Humphrey, Auburn-Haired Actress, Becomes Princess Ibrahim Hassan, Escapes From Her Cruel Master and Advises Girls That Royal Marriages Are a Losing Game—When She Rebelled Prince Chastised Her.

The $1,000,000 soon to come to Miss Ola Humphrey of California will go far to assuage the sorrow of the half-year spent behind the lattice of an Egyptian harem as the Princess Ibrahim Hassan.

From Great Britain comes word that a considerable portion of the confiscated property of the prince will go to his erstwhile American bride. Ibrahim Hassan, an Ottoman prince of the blood royal, is first cousin to the former khedive of Egypt, and during the recent upheaval, which cost the khedive his throne, he also lost his property. The suit instituted by Ola Humphrey for a slice of the seized wealth of her discarded but undivorced husband was answered promptly and generously by the British government.

Miss Ola was born at Oakland, Cal., the daughter of Thomas Marshall Humphrey, a prosperous manufacturer of fine furniture.

It was not so long ago that she was a theatrical star. She lent her auburn beauty to "The Prisoner of Zenda," to "The Little Gray Lady" and to "The Fatal Wedding." In those days she was the wife of Edwin Mordant, her leading man, who was one of the stalwarts of the actors in their recent strike. But it was not long before a divorce came and she faced the audience and the world alone.

Wins Love of Prince.

Then she crossed the seas to flaunt her beauty from the English boards. It was in 1910 in "The Man from Mexico" she won the heart of a stout, swarthy gentleman who came night after night to see her play. He was Prince Ibrahim Hassan.

They were wed.

She was taken to the seraglio of her royal husband. On the banks of the ancient Nile, under the shadow of the throne of Cleoparra, the occidental bride was forced to live the life of the native woman. Her brilliant hair was hidden—a dark veil draped her and the lattice of the orient was interposed between her and the freedom she craved.

And so came discord.

The prince then took his pining wife to Pagan Paris. Here he endeavored to impose the customs of the East upon his recalcitrant spouse. When she rebelled, he chastised her. He pommeled her soundly. That was enough for the princess Ola. Watching her chance she fled to London and refused to return.

"It became clear to me after we were married," she confided to her friends, "that to my oriental husband I was only a thing apart from the rest of his life—an amusement, perhaps an expensive luxury, to be taken into account when there was nothing more serious on hand. His real interests he never shared with me."

Swears Off for Life.

About marriage in general of the East and West, she had only a word, she said:

"Don't. It is a losing game."

Soon after this, in 1914, the war started and the Ottoman empire lined itself up on the losing side. The khedive then on the throne of Egypt looked to Turkey and Germany instead of the allies. So also did Cousin Ibrahim Hassan. The khedive was promptly relieved of his throne and the prince of his holdings by the British and some one more loyal to the British empire substituted.

So it was that a portion of the money taken was set aside for the mistreated wife in settlement of the suit which she had instituted some time before. The war over and the government free to consider civilian affairs, a golden million of the fortune of the prince is to go to Ola Humphrey.

And she says that marriage with orientals does not pay.

Prizes for Safe Airplanes.

The British government will offer prizes amounting to £64,000 for airplane competition in order to develop safer types of machines, Maj. Gen. J. E. B. Seely of the air ministry announced in the house of commons. The prizes would be distributed among three classes of aircraft—small airplanes, large airplanes, and seaplanes.

Airplane Used as Hearse in Canada.

Airplanes were used as funeral vehicles for the first time when the body of Leonard Allen, an aviator of Toronto, Can., was carried from his home to the cemetery in a Curtiss airplane. The clergyman who officiated at the grave followed in a second plane.

Tired of Jail.

Growing wearied of jail, Thomas Martin and Otto Cole having fashioned a key from a prison spoon, unlocked the jail door at Colusa, Cal., and walked forth. Today they are free men.

The men were charged with stealing an automobile. The spoon was made of pliable material.

BAD CHECK AND BOGUS DEATH

Habiliments of Mourning and Trick Tears Work on Sympathy of Chicago Undertaker—Cemetery Lot Is Selected and Check for $141.06 Is Offered in Payment of $100 Bill, the Difference Being Mournful Gentleman's Profit.

Around his arm he wore a sable ribband. A shapely tear, debouching from the lachrymal duct, oscillated upon an abutting eyelash as he crossed the threshold at 1158 North Clark street, Chicago, to enter the dimly illumined interior of the mortuary establishment of D. M. Carroll.

Hastily laying aside the box score final extra, Mr. Carroll arose, tendered his hand, the while exerting a sympathetic pressure, and in modulated tone asked:

"May I not offer you a chair?"

The tear, doubtless obeying the law of gravitation, oscillated loose from the eyelash and splashed upon Mr. Carroll's outstretched hand, just as the visitor was preparing to release it and accept the proffered chair.

A Funeral Is Planned.

"Sir," quavered the visitor, extracting a black silk handkerchief from his black coat and pressing it to either eye, "My mother has passed away—Mrs. Mary A. Baker. She died at Kankakee. I wish her buried in Chicago. Could I place the case in your hands?"

"Yes, indeed," murmured Mr. Carroll.

"Now, the body—that will have to be shipped here."

"Yes, I will assume full charge," said Mr. Carroll. "The cemetery—we must choose a suitable place of interment. Have you a choice?"

"No, those details—one does not think of them."

"Well, we will visit Mount Olivet."

There the visitor—he was Dr. C. F. Baker of 7124 Woodlawn avenue, he said—selected a lot, gave the grave digger a cigar and the management a check for $141.06. The bill being but $100, he received the change, $41.06, and departed.

Something Is Amiss.

That being last Saturday, a week, and the body failing to arrive, Mr. Carroll telegraphed Kankakee. He learned no death certificate had been issued there for a Mrs. Mary A. Baker, which his client had given as the name of the deceased. The Mount Olivet management also learned the check was fictitious.

"But," soliloquized Mr. Carroll, "you gotta hand it to that bird, at that. Those trick tears alone are worth the price of admission, but when, on top of that, he even takes out the price of that six cent flor de cabbago he tipped the grave digger with, I'll tell the world it's piling Ossa on Pelion in slicker stuff."

WAR BRIDES ON STRIKE

Sixty Parisian Girls, Divorced, Have Returned to French Homes.

Sixty Parisian girls have returned to France as divorced wives of former American soldiers. In addition to the American way of living, which was different from that to which they had been accustomed, they found marked change in their husbands in the new home country. It seems the only thing in the United States which struck them as wholly aggreeable was the rapid means of obtaining a divorce.

"I was bored," one girl said in explaining the reason why she had freed herself, "and I soon became the unhappiest woman alive. New York is a big, sad city, with no air, no horizon, awful noise and plenty of dust."

MAN FLEW TO FUNERAL

Traveled 154 Miles in 80 Minutes After He Had Missed Train.

Unable to make a train from Marshall, Tex., that would get him to St. Louis, Mo., in time for the funeral of his brother-in-law, Isaac Marcus hired an areoplane and an aviator and flew 154 miles to Little Rock, Ark., where he boarded a train for St. Louis, arriving before the services. The flight was made in one hour and twenty minutes.

Soldier Seeks Risky Job.

London, Oct. 20.—Peace is getting too humdrum for an ex-stretcher-bearer in the British army, who was awarded the military medal at Martinquich in 1916 and got a bar added thereto for bravery in assisting his captain at Ypres in the 1917 fighting. So he inserted this ad in a London newspaper: "Young ex-soldier three times wounded, will risk his life for $1,000; tired of life and all alone. Write Box 9944, 67 Fleet street, E. C. 4." The ex-soldier is now fretting at a $15 a week office job where there's so little to do he's thirsting for some excitement. A risky movie job, he says, would suit fine.

Boy Unconscious 28 Days.

Dayton, O., Oct. 20.—John C. Ramby, Jr., struck by an automobile, lay unconscious in a local hospital for twenty-eight days. Regaining consciousness and in a weakened condition, the boy whispered that he wanted "the biggest meal they could prepare." He is recovering.

Keys to Homes Auctioned.

Sydney, Oct. 20.—So acute has the shortage of houses become in New South Wales that the government has drawn up a scheme for state housing under the direction of a minister for housing. At Forbes it is proposed to demolish the local jail and to erect on the site a dozen houses out of the material. So numerous are the applicants for houses that tenants, prior to leaving rented premises, have conducted from their balconies auction sales for the possession of the keys of the house. The government intends erecting 5,000 houses in Sydney for sale to purchasers on easy terms.

Harvard Athletes Must Not Bathe.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 20. — There is one activity at Harvard where to make good one has to go bathless for six weeks. The great army of unwashed are better known as the cross-country squad, numbering twenty-five men. Strict training rules are laid down for the conduct of the cross-country runners. No breaking in training is permitted, the penalty being expulsion from the squad. The most strict rule of all is that forbidding bathing. It is claimed that a shower especially after practice, weakens the runners, who cover from five to seven miles daily. The ban against bathing is on until after November 22, the date of the intercollegiate.

The Changing World

NAPOLEON is quoted as having said, "Right is on the side of the heaviest artillery." In other words that might makes right.

This cynical remark was characteristic of the age in which he lived, and expressed the thought which dominated the world for many years after his death.

But a change has come over the world which has turned the whole thought of mankind into more wholesome, constructive channels. Where formerly he who had the power exploited his fellows, today the dominant idea is service and helpfulness.

In business particularly, is this idea apparent.

Today only those business institutions which render to the public a definite, specific service can hope to survive the changed ideals of the world.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is bending every effort to conduct its affairs in such manner as to conform to these modern ideals.

It is the ambition of the Company to broaden the scope and intensify the service it renders the public so as to make every man who buys even a gallon of gasoline feel that he is receiving the greatest possible value for the money he spends.

It is the Company's steadfast purpose to make every product it manufactures of the highest quality possible, thereby keeping its activities in step with the changing world.

STOWAWAY MADE FOUR TRIPS ACROSS ATLANTIC

Mike Gilhooley, Sent Home Four Times, Determined to Live in America.

Mike Gilhooley, a fifteen-year-old Belgian youth, has been deported for the fourth time by American immigration officials. The boy, however, is determined to make his home in the United States.

"You'll see me again," shouted Mike from the steamer rail in New York harbor. "I'll be back soon, and I'll keep right on coming back if I have to keep up this stowaway game for the next ten years, because I'm going to be an American citizen."

The Belgian youth is an orphan. His father, who was born in Ireland, died before the war began, and his mother, a Belgian, was killed during the German invasion.

Mike tried to get into the war, but was too young. After varied adventures he attached himself to the American army and made many friends. Soon after the armistice was signed he decided to come to America, and some of his soldier friends helped him by giving him a uniform and smuggling him on board a transport. Once on the ocean Mike thought he was safe; but he wasn't. The immigration officers found him, and he was sent back to France.

A few weeks later he arrived again as a stowaway. Again Mike was sent back. Then he arrived on board another transport. This time he escaped from the ship after immigration officials had ordered him held for deportation. He lived with friends in New York city for a month, then he was found and sent to Ellis Island.

But Mike never reached his home town in Belgium. Instead, he went to Bordeaux and the doughboys again took him in. The soldiers were ordered home and the Belgian lad attempted to embark on their transport, only to be foiled at the gang plank. He waited around the Kroomland, another transport and, when he saw no one was looking, leaped aboard. He was found two days later hiding in the hold.

JAR FOR COFFIN ASKED

Londoner's Will Also Urges That Ashes Be Mixed With Cement.

A strange provision for his interment was made in his will by W. H. Syrett, Nightingale road, notice server to the Hackney borough council, England. A codicil reads:

"If reasonable, I desire my body cremated and the resultant ashes placed in a large old jam jar which belonged to my mother, that Portland cement and sand mixed with water may be poured therein until a solid block of concrete is formed, and such block buried in some place unlikely to be disturbed, or alternatively thrown into deep sea water."

Parents Spend $1,325 to Rear Child.

It costs $1,325 to rear a child from birth to sixteen years of age, according to the children's bureau of the department of labor. The bureau declared that in order to raise children the average working man and wife must economize seriously.

Bullet Wounds Man Nine Times.

CANDIDATES SHOW UP FOR 1920 RACE

NAMES OF SEVERAL MISSOURI DEMOCRATS MENTIONED

AFTERMATH TO MEETING

Party Session at Jefferson City Brings Out Men for All the Places on the State Ticket

By A. T. EDMONSTON

Jefferson City, Oct. 20.—As aftermath to the harmonious and enthusiastic conference the Democratic State Committee, the Women's Auxiliary and the party leaders of both sexes had here Tuesday, Oct. 14, Democratic and independent electors of Missouri are beginning to manifest a keen interest in the composition of the state ticket they will vote for in November, 1920, and put over the plate with a record plurality. The word has gone over the state that all Democratic wings and elements are in perfect accord on all state issues of any consequence and that the next step toward keeping the harmony ball rolling is to select a ticket at the August primary which will prove acceptable to all true-blue Missourians.

The spirit of the Democratic powwow and love feast, as generally expressed, was that an overwhelming party victory was in sight for the next election if all state warhorses of Democracy and the rank and file worked together with a long, strong pull.

Gardner's Record Remarkable.

The record Governor F. D. Gardner has achieved in making his administration, not, alone, an economical one, but, also, a highly efficient one, including the brilliant coup of paying a state deficit of over $2,000,000, a small portion dating back years, but which assumed high proportions during the four years that the "mysterious stranger" ran the affairs of Missouri with a full and uncontrolled hand, was one of the favorite topics of the conference and gave rise to the opinion that he ought to be drafted to make the race for United States senator and be given the nomination at the primary of next August without opposition.

While other senatorial possibilities received consideration and their merits and chances of success were freely discussed it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that Governor Gardner was the man of the hour.

Governorship a Problem.

The merits and chances of the various possibilities for the Democratic nomination for governor were given the attention due such an important topic. On the ground were Democrats who favored handing this plum to Lieutenant Governor Wallace Crossley of Warrensburg, pointing to his brilliant record, first, as a state senator ,and, then as presiding officer over the senate during the sessions of 1917 and 1919 as a reason for their activities in behalf of their candidate.

Friends of John M. Atkinson, now of St. Louis, but formerly of Doniphan, Ripley county, put in many hours in acquainting all with his strong points and the other reasons why the Democrats of Missouri should select him at the primary of next August as their candidate for governor. The record he made while speaker of the house and representative from Ripley county a few years ago, and as assistant attorney general, and, finally, as a member and chairman of the Public Service Commission were freely aired.

Friends of Rolla Wells, the world's fair mayor of St. Louis, voiced their reasons why St. Louis should again be favored by Democracy in selecting the next gubernatorial candidate. That city, it was announced, would give the ticket a majority ranging from 5,000 to 10,000 if this honor was bestowed on this favorite son.

Cooper County Man Boosted.

The virtues, capabilities and efficiency of Dr. Arthur Nelson of Bunceton, Cooper county, were extolled by admiring friends. It was asserted he stood high as a citizen in rural Missouri, had an extensive acquaintance and many friends in the heavy Democratic counties of central Missouri, and therefore, would be a pillar of strength to the ticket if he was tendered first honors on the state party ticket at the August primary.

The possible entry of former State Senator Francis M. Wilson of Platte county, now United States district attorney for the western half of Missouri, with headquarters in the Democratic stronghold of Kansas City in the race for the gubernatorial nomination and what effect it would have on the chances of success of other candidates, was given careful thought by the assembled gladiators. Those who started the Wilso n boom at the Democratic love feast are responsible for the assertion that Kansas City and Jackson, Platte, Cass, Bates, Buchanan and two or three other western Missouri Democratic counties would go strongly for that war horse at the primary if he got into the contest.

Judge Bean a Possibility.

Democrats from Jefferson, Perry, Ste. Francois, Washington, Ste. Genevieve and other counties of the Thirteenth congressional district, arounsed keen interest in the coming primary race for governor by stating they would unite on Judge Edwin J. Bean of DeSoto, now a member of the state Public Service Commission, if he would consent to allow them to draft him. It was held out by the Bean boomers that his efforts in behalf of the welfare of the people as a member of that state commission which regulates and controls all public affairs, including the fixing of rates and charges for public service companies of Missouri, would make him a very popular candidate. Particular attention was called to his activities for the citizens of St. Louis in their still pending controversy with the United Railway company, and, it was added that this fact alone would cause him to carry that city at the general election of November, 1920, and that through his strength the entire Democratic ticket would win there if he was the gubernatorial nominee.

State Senators Are Mentioned.

The merits and Democratic records of state senators Walter C. Goodson of Macon city, R. S. McClintic of Monroe city, M. E. Casey of Kansas City and Carter M. Buford of Ellington, Reynolds county, each a possibility for lieutenant governor, were critically gone into by the assembled party warriors, and it was the unanimous opinion that no blemishes existed in their past careers and that either one of the quartette would lend strength to the next Democratic ticket. Senator Buford, who was one of the leaders of the powwow ,was carrolled by his friends and forced then and there to make the public announcement that he was an avowed candidate for lieutenant governor. Since then he has not openly stated that he has changed his mind, and, therefore, his friends are of the opinion that he is in the race to stay. The friends of Senator Goodson endeavored him to publicly proclaim he would get into the race, but he decided to wait until the campaign warmed up before positively making known his intentions.

One Man Is Out of It.

Edward C. Orr, who represented Livingston county in the Forty-Seventh General Assembly, in attendance at the conference representing his portion of Missouri, quickly put an end to a movement of friends to boom him for lieutenant governor by emphatically declaring he was not a candidate.

State Senator Mark A. McCruder of Pettis county, Democratic floor leader of the senate during the recent session, who, a week ago gave his friends the privilege of boosting and booming him for attorney general by agreeing to enter the race for that nomination, made the assertion at the close of the day that he felt like a winner. Before returning to Sedalia he gave out a statement that he had talked with nearly every Democrat in attendance at the conference and the hearty and enthusiastic support tendered him was assurance that he had made no mistake when he agreed to run for the attorney general nomination.

Definite information that State Senator McGruder would make the race for attorney general and not again be a candidate for state senator from the Fifteenth senatorial district, precipitated a boom for Thomas H. Fisher, state committeeman from the Seventh congressional district, living at Marshall, Saline county, as the next Democratic senator from that portion of Missouri, which ,besides Saline and Pettis counties, also includes Benton and Hickory counties.

Rich Correll Out of Race.

Political gossip to the effect that Richard R. Correll, who, until recently, was editor of the Chronicle of Clark, Mo., and who represented Randolph county in the house during the 1917 session, and who is now a deputy state industrial inspector, would make the race for the nomination for secretary of state in opposition to John L. Sullivan, the present incumbent, received a body blow when that north Missouri Democratic newspaperman stated he had no such aspirations at the present. What he might do if the field was entirely open in his senatorial district, he said, was to make the race for state senator, but even this constituted a proposition that he would pass on next spring when it became positively known who would be candidates.

Those mentioned for the nomination for treasurer on the Democratic state ticket during the party confab of Tuesday, October 14, were State Senators Walter Brownlee, a banker of Brookfield, Linn county; Sam B. Cook of Cole county, a Jefferson City banker; and O. S. Harrison of Kennett, Dunklin county. Another Democrat suggested for state treasurer is J. T. Mitchell, a banker of Centralia, Boone county, who lives in Columbia, Mo. He was state bank commissioner during the four years of Governor Elliott W. Major's administration.

No Opposition for New Judges.

It was also the general opinion of those who were present at the Democratic conference that the two lawyers Governor Gardner appoints to fill the two existing vacancies on the supreme court bench, one arising through the death of Judge Henry W. Bond and the other through the resignation of Judge Charles B. Faris to become judge of the United States court for the eastern district of Missouri, ought not to have opposition for these nominations at the August primary since both would sacrifice their own present and future 1920 legal practices and thereby suffer heavy financial losses through accepting the conferred honor which extends only over a period of fourteen months and a few days or until the close of next year.

The opinion was also freely expressed that Supreme Court Judge Fred L. Williams, whose home is in Joplin, Mo., ought to be tendered the renomination at the August primary without opposition, since he was elected in 1916 for a term of only four years to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Judge John C. Brown. The exceptional record of Judge Williams has made for himself during the few months he has been a member of the Missouri supreme court, it was expressed, would make him formidable and induce thousands of independent electors who only believe in supporting high class nominees to vote the Democratic ticket.

Government Inspection of Meat Makes 75 Per Cent of Total Safe

John Brown Jones is queer.

Want proof? Well, he planted a fine field to corn, but it was unfenced and all of the neighbors 'stock had free access to it. Brown-Jones turned in and built a woven wire fence around that field, horse high, bull strong and pig tight. But—and here is the proof of his queerness—he left a 10-foot gap with no sort of fence across it at all. The cows and horses pushed at that fence and the hogs nosed around it without result—for a few days. Then, as anybody might have known, they found the gap and the Brown-Jones corn "went flooy."

Queen isn't the name for it, you say? Certainly not. The fellow was a full-fledged fool—only there wasn't any such fellow. That story is a sort of parable written to illustrate what the people of the United States are doing every day with regard to the meat they eat. Against diseased and unwholesome meat they have built the fence, high and strong and close woven, but they have left a big open gap through which any kind of disease or uncleanness may enter the home and play havoc.

What Federal Inspection Is.

Take your own town for instance. About 75 per cent of the beef eaten in your town has the stamp of purity placed on it by the United States Department of Agriculture. You know it is clean and that the animal from which it was taken was sound and healthy. When the steer went to the pen, ready for slaughter, he was thoroughly inspected by a veterinarian of the Bureau of Animal Industry. If there had been anything wrong with him, or even a suspicion of anything wrong with him, slaughtering him for meat purposes would have been prohibited. But he was sound, apparently, and was killed for beef. But that did not end the inquiry. After the steer was slaughtered, another inspector very carefully examined the carcass, the lungs, the heart, the liver. Still another department of agriculture inspector watched the canning of such portions of the carcass as went into cans. And other inspectors of the department looked after the packing plant as a whole—saw that sanitary rules were observed, that the water supply was pure, that the workmen had facilities for keeping themselves clean, that the tables and other equipment did not become foul, that every process was carried out with due regard to cleanliness.

That system of inspection, you say, ought to insure the purity of the meat supply? Not at all. It does insure purity of the meat inspected, but federal inspection can not be extended to all meat; it does not go all the way.

The United States department of agriculture, being a federal agency and operating under federal laws, can not interfere in purely state affairs. Suppose there is a packer or butcher in your town—as there probably is—who sells his beef and other products entirely within your state. So far as federal meat inspection is concerned, he can do as he pleases—kill diseased cattle if he wants to, and allow his plant to be as filthy as suits his idea of convenience. Federal meat inspection applies only to plants whose products cross state lines—plants that slaughter in one state and sell some part of their products in other states.

Taking it the country over, about 25 per cent of the beef consumed comes from plants that sell wholly within the state where they are located and that, therefore, cannot be reached by the inspectors of the United States department of agriculture. As long as there are 25 per cent—or 4 per cent—of uninspected meat offered for sale in your town, you cannot feel certain that the meat your children eat is disease-free and wholesome.

How About Your Town?

What is to be done about it, you say? Well, go see what is being done about it. The state might correct it by the right sort of meat inspection law, or the town might do it by the right sort of meat inspection ordinance properly enforced. Do you know whether your town does that or not?

Among the cities of 5,000 or more population, less than one-third maintain any kind of meat inspection. Some of that one-third have a service called meat inspection that does not amount to inspection at all. Just to illustrate:

The United States department of agriculture, not long ago, sent out a questionnaire to mayors concerning municipal meat inspection. Here are two questions and the gist of the answers received from one city official:

"Q. Does your city maintain municipal meat inspection?"

"A. You bet your life this city maintains municipal meat inspection."

"Q. By whom is the inspection performed?"

"A. By the city plumbing inspector."

Just for your own satisfaction, you might see what kind of meat inspection, if any, your town has. Then, if it has none, or if it has not the right kind, it would be to your interest to see what can be done about it.

A Mother's Three Reasons.

A woman recently appeared before the city council of San Diego, Calif., and asked to be heard on the matter of local meat regulations. She told the council there were three reasons why she wanted to see nothing but government inspected meat in San Diego. Then she introduced her three children to the council. She explained that Uncle Sam demands federal inspected meat for his soldiers and sailors, and that her children are just as important to her as Uncle Sam's are to him.

If there are not any reasons running around your house, all you have to do is to look over into your neighbor's yard. Or be sensibly selfish and think about your own welfare.

Squirrel Pie.

Arrange thin slices of bacon in the botton of a deep baking dish, season with salt and pepper; add one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one tablespoonful of mixed herbs and a cupful of white sauce. Cut two squirrels in serving-sized pieces and place them over the bacon; cover with a layer of sliced potatoes and place a cover of pastry over the dish. Bake one hour in a hot oven. Add another cupful of white sauce through the vent in the top, brush with egg and brown.

Roast Wild Duck.

Clean and truss the duck and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover the breast with slices of salt pork, cut very thin. Place on a rack in a dripping pan, add a little water to the pan and place in a hot oven to cook for half an hour, basting every five minutes with the water in the pan. Remove the pork and serve with currant jelly.

Rabbit.

This is a delicious dish when a tender young rabbit is served. Wash and wipe the meat carefully, cut it up in serving-sized pieces, brown in a little hot butter, then add water and a tablespoonful of vinegar; cook slowly until tender.

Roast Venison.

Rub a half lemon over the piece of venison to roast, lard with strips of salt pork, cook until tender, but not overdone—15 minutes to the pound. Serve with spiced wild grape jelly.

Game in Season.

Most experts in cooking of game agree that the flavor of game birds is better if they are not stuffed with the usual highly seasoned forcemeat.

A propeller invented by a Massachusetts man for motor boats has a single blade that oscillates like a fish's tail or the motion of an oar in sculling.

World Is Getting Better.

The world is getting better to the man who is doing something to make it better, and remaining the same or getting worse to the man who isn't.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 10c and 25c.

HAD A QUEER IDEA OF HOW TO SPEND HIS HONEYMOON

Recruiting Officer Wanted to Do a Little Enlisting as a Sideline On His Wedding Journey

Lewiston, Me., Oct. 14.—"Got a job for me for a few days?" asked Sergt. Earl Van Etten, who walked into the marine corps recruiting office here today.

"Sure," replied Sergt. Slack. "I can can give you a job for from two to four years, if you want to re-enlist."

"Oh, I'm not out of the service," said Van Etten. "I just wanted something to keep me amused for a few days and I thought I'd like to help out with the recruiting. You see, I've got the marine recruiting station in Portland."

"Then what are you doing here?" asked Slack.

"Just passing through on my honeymoon," said Van Etten. Then he explained that a few days before he had married Miss Myra Pauline McLaughlin of Portland.

"Some people have queer ideas of how to spend a honeymoon," said Slack.

FAIRBANKS' ONE AMBITION WAS TO ACT IN "ARIZONA"

The fact that "Arizona" was picturized four years ago by its author, Augustus Thomas, did not discourage Douglas Fairbanks from doing it himself and reviving the attractive character of "Lieutenant Denton." It will be shown at the Empire theatre tonight.

Like the typical Shakespearian actor that he is, Douglas has been spouting the lines of "Arizona" to such an extent that his office staff have found it necessary to memorize cues and sacrifice their routine labor to "act out" with Fairbanks.

Ever since he first saw the play "Arizona" it has been his dream—his one great ambition—to produce it, and when the opportunity arrived to do it, it was a happy day for Douglas Fairbanks.

An all-star cast was organized which includes Theodore Roberts, Marjorie Daw, Frederick Burton, Kathleen Kirkham, Frank Campeau, Marguerite de la Motte, Kate Price, Robert Boulder, Raymond Hatton and Albert McQuarrie. The latter appeared with Mr. Fairbanks in "He Comes Up Smiling" and "Bound in Morocco." This is said to be as fine a cast as has been assembled in any motion picture.

The salary list of this exceptional cast was amazing Several members of the company were brought specially from New York to California, their salaries, starting the day they left, and continuing until their return to Manhattan.

Women Voters End Session.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—The convention of the Missouri Woman Suffrage Association, which transformed itself into the Missouri League of Women Voters, closed Saturday, with a meeting of the executive committee and a "miniature" citizenship school. The committee took up routine matters of organizations. It was decided that the officers of the Suffrage League should act in their same capacity until May, when new officers for the Voters League will be elected.

Announcement is made today of the reopening of the roller skating rink upstairs on the east side of the square, which has been idle for several years. Walter Shrubshall will be the manager. The opening will be Wednesday night, and all the roller skaters of Maryville and vicinity are invited to attend. Music will be furnished. The room has been remodeled and redecorated, a good supply of skates has ben obtained, and the floor is promised to be smooth and inviting. Special attention will be paid to see that the entertainment is first-class in every respect.

MISSOURI SHOWS INTEREST IN THE BUILDING OF ROADS

Various Sections Vote Total of $16,000,000; Dates Are Set for Further Elections

Jefferson City, Oct. 20.—The voting of bonds to meet state and federal aid for the building of two state roads in each county authorized by the new road law is the absorbing subject in all sections of the state. In counties where an issue has not yet been presented to the people and in counties where there have been failures the road boosters are intensely busy, a failure merely inspiring them to greater activity.

Counties, townships and districts in the state have already voted a total of $16,000,000, and dates have been set for elections during November and the balance of October for an additional total of over $2,000,0000.

The state-wide movement for good roads is now bringing to the state highway department a flood of applications for state and federal aid and from counties that have already voted road bonds. The state highway board, at its last meeting, approved applications for 96.56 miles of gravel and concrete road, to be built in Lewis, Butler, Lawrence, Jackson, Marion and Gentry counties. The total estimated cost of this mileage is $1,039,214. The largest application in point of cost came from Gentry county for the construction of ten miles of gravel road in two directions from Albany, on the Jefferson Highway, at an estimated cost of $210,946.

The board has approved to date 512.06 miles of hard surfaced road, and the estimated cost of the construction of this mileage is $6,070,004.12.

The following applications for state and federal aid were approved by the board:

10.46 miles of 16 foot gravel in Gentry county on the Jefferson Highway, both ways from Albany, at an estimated cost of $210,946; 2.10 miles of graded earth in Jackson county on the Washington Park Boulevard, from Kansas City east, at an estimated cost of $129,058; 10.50 miles of 16 foot gravel in Marion county on the Pike's Peak Ocean-to-Ocean Highway, from Hannibal to West Ely, estimated cost $64,542; 22 miles of 16 foot gravel in Lawrence county on the Springfield-Joplin road, from the Jasper county line to Greene county line, through Mt. Train Robbers Ignore All But Meat.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Oct. 81.—Local police were informed recently by members of the crew of a Missouri Pacific freight train that their train was held up and robbed by four armed men at a crossing a few miles west of the city shortly after midnight. The robbers, ignoring the rest of the cars, entered a refrigerator car and carried away a large quantity of meat in a waiting automobile, the train crew reported.

Personal Affairs Course for Women.

Boston, Oct. 20. — Society women have begun their courses in personal affairs management at the College of Secretarial Science of Boston University. The course has been designed for wealthy women to learn how to manage successfully their own estates. Young heiresses find the course of great benefit to them in arranging their affairs, keeping budgets, etc. Dean Theodore Lawrence Davis is the originator of this unique plan, which he himself has developed at the College of Secretarial Science, the "baby" department of Boston University.

TELL THE WORLD THIS WOMAN SAYS

That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made Me a Well Woman.

Los Angeles, Cal.—"I suffered with female troubles for years, was sick most of the time, was not able to do my own housework, and I could not get help from doctors. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers, and took six bottles, and am a well woman. You can use my name to tell the world the good your medicine has done me as I shall praise it always."—Mrs. A. L. DeVine, 647 St. Paul Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

Women who suffer from any form of weakness, as indicated by displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues," should do as Mrs. DeVine did, and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a thorough trial.

For over forty years this famous remedy, which contains the curative, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, has been correcting just such ailments. If you have mysterious complications write for advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn Mass.

NEW BAKING PLAN

Bread Rises in Auto on the Way to the Oven.

To mix a batch of bread—six loaves—at her home in Greenwood township, "raise" it by auto and bake it in Bloomsburg, Pa., was the experience of Mrs. John Lemon.

Incidentally it exhibits a new possibility of the motor car. A neighbor and Mrs. James Bush of Bloomsburg both wanted her to go to Bloomsburg.

"But I have my bread mixed and raising," said the puzzled woman, who also wanted to make the trip. "I can't afford to lose it in these days of the high cost of living," she asserted. "Bring it along," was the answer, "and bake it in Bloomsburg." That's just what she did. She telephoned Mrs. Rush to have her oven hot, and the pan of dough was covered with a clean white cloth and placed in the front, close to the engine as possible. When they got to Bloomsburg they found the sponge ready for the oven. Mrs. Lemon declares it was no "lemon," either, and she says she never had better bread than this particular batch.

DISAPPEARING LAKE

Water in It Goes Away About Every Three or Four Years.

In Georgia near Vlarosta, there is a lake which disappears every three or four years and then comes back again, no matter what the weather is like.

The lake is three miles long and three-quarters of a mile wide, with an average depth of twelve feet of water. There are natural subterranean passages beneath it, through which the water passes off.

It takes two or three weeks to disappear, when a mammoth basin is left in its place, which furnishes a beautiful sandy beach. After a month or so the water begins to return, and then in a couple of weeks it is the same magnificent stretch of water as it was before.

FOXES RAISED FOR MARKET

Farmer on Island Near Alaska Has "Herd" Worth $130,000.

Growth of a fox farm on Kukoi island, off the coast of Alaska, from 20 animals to a band estimated to be worth $130,000, has been described by Claude Green, a former trapper, prospector and miner and now one of the proprietors of the farm.

The animals are fed a cooked mash of fish and grain. More than 600 foxes with an average market value of $185 for each pelt have been raised, according to Green.

Origin of Jury System Attributed to Peoples of European Countries

The exact origin of the jury system is not known with certainty, it having been attributed to different European peoples which at an early period developed methods of trial somewhat similar to the early jury trials in England. Trial by battle was cast in the background by the Norman conquerors when the Norman institution of recognition by sworn inquest was adopted. The Curia Regis, or King's court, directed the sheriff to select four knights of the county by whom 12 knights were selected to serve as recognitors. After being duly sworn they inquired into the facts of interest to the new rulers of England which might be subject to public inquiry, such as matters affecting taxation.

Suitors in cases affecting the title of real estate, as early as the reign of Henry II, 1154 to 1189, applied to the king's court for recognitors whose verdict, if unanimous, was accepted as conclusive.

Originally the jury was selected because of their knowledge of the people, locality and customs and thereby passing upon the facts from a more intimate knowledge of them. During the reign of Henry IV, the jury was instructed to judge the facts upon the evidence submitted to it, which is the single function of the jury of modern practice.—Kansas City Star.

Interesting Item.

"I'm afraid Clubleigh doesn't keep up with international politics."

"How is that?"

"I asked him what was the latest news from Italy and he said the restaurateurs of Rome were charging $18 a bottle for champagne."

Well, Even That Will Help.

"They say food is going to be cheap pretty soon," remarked the hopeful chap.

"No," said the man who loves to look on the dark side; "it isn't going to be cheap—it will merely seem cheap by comparison."

Doesn't Pay.

Hobbs — Your debts don't seem to worry you.

Dobbs—No; if I look worried it worries my creditors, and then they worry me into worrying a lot more.

Who's Afraid?

"Were you afraid, dearie, while I was detained downtown?"

"I wasn't exactly afraid."

"I was afraid you'd be afraid."

"And I was afraid you'd be afraid I'd be afraid, so I tried not to be afraid."

Check Gave Him Nightmare.

"Do you think that the things you eat influence your dreams?"

"Undoubtedly! I ate a sirloin steak the other evening and dreamed about bankruptcy all night."

Returned Soldier—No, thanks, it's too hard to mobilize.—New York Tribune.

United States Leads All Other Nations of World in Production of Ships

Steamships under the American flag now comprise 24.8 per cent of the steam tonnage of the world, the United states shipping board announced.

"Today this nation has more shipworkers, more shipyards, more ship ways, more vessels under construction, and is turning them out more rapidly and in greater number than now issue from all the shipyards of all the world," the statement says.

"Up to the outbreak of the war we had only 15 vessels of 1,000 tons and over in overseas trade. Today the American flag floats from 1,280 ocean-going steamships, 1,107 of which have been built within the last two years.

Victory, "Dead Sea Fruit"—Defeat Spells Disgrace

Leaving baseball, football and boxing aside there is no longer a great disparity between woman's and man's athletic prowess. But whether the woman should be permitted to compete with the men in the golf, tennis, shooting and other championships is debatable ground. If the men oppose it one can hardly blame them, for it must be years before victory over a woman will be regarded as anything but "Dead sea fruit," and defeat as anything but a disgrace.

Marriage Insurance.

With the object of stimulating marriage England has a marriage insurance scheme by which the family will receive $2,500 in the event of the death of the husband, or the same sum will be paid at the end of 25 years if the husband still lives.

'I WOULD HAVE SAVED $15,000'

Charles Norwood Regrets He Did Not Know of Tanlac Fifteen Years Ago

"Just ask the boys at the C. & A. round house where I work; they all know what an awful fix I was in and can tell you that this Tanlac has made a new man of me," was the statement made by Charles Norwood of 1413 West Olive street, Bloomington, Ill., while discussing the medicine recently.

"I can easily figure out," he continued, "where, if I had had Tanlac fifteen years ago, it would have saved me right around one thousand dollars a year, which is a pretty snug little fortune. The way I figure is this: For the last fifteen years I haven't been able to work more than half the time, at best. When I did work my earning capacity was much cut on account of my poor health, and for a good many years I couldn't work at all. But if I had been as well and strong as I am since taking Tanlac I could have earned twice as much pay, to say nothing of the amount of money I paid out trying to get rid of my terrible pain and suffering. For a long time my stomach never felt right and everything I would eat disagreed with me ,causing a bloated, nauseated feeling after meals. This trouble kept getting worse until I just broke down completely and had to stop trying to work. My stomach got in such a bad fix that I had to live on the very lightest foods I could find and even then I suffered. I had sick headaches about every day and was so weak I just had to drag around. My stomach not only kept getting worse, but my kidneys finally got all out of order and I almost went distracted with pain and misery. My back hurt me so bad I could hardly move or turn over in bed. For a long time before I quit my job it took me some time every morning to get out of bed, the pain in my back was so great, and then I would have to go all bent over.

"I got to reading the statements about Tanlac and some of the testimonials described my case so well that I commenced taking it myself, and, oh, how I wish I could have found such a medicine years ago. I am just so thankful that I am at last out of my misery that I feel like I would be doing wrong not to tell everybody I can about Tanlac. I can sit right down to the table now and eat as much as I ever could in my life and never suffer the least bit afterwards. My headaches are gone entirely and my kidneys and back never bother me any more and I sleep like a child every night. In fact, my troubles are all gone, and not only that, I am feeling stronger and better than I have in almost twenty years. I haven't missed a day's work now since I finished my fifth bottle of Tanlac, nearly three months ago. I am now a perfectly well man and will always praise Tanlac."

"Tanlac is sold in Maryville by Koch Pharmacy, in Conception Junction by A. M. Colly, in Pickering by H. M. Lincoln, in Burlington Junction by Coster Pharmacy, in Barnard by Bear Drug Co., in Elmo by King Drug Co., in Clearmont by Dr. W. H. Wiley, in Ravenwood by C. A. Shunk, in Arkoe by Rufus R. Smith, in Hopkins by Hopkins Drugs Co., and in Parnell by F. L. Hart." ADV.

AFTER 32 YEARS IN PRISON, WILL SETTLE DOWN AT 75

"Frank Fores" Ended Fourteenth Term Saturday at Jefferson City and Will Now Pick Apples

Jefferson City, Oct. 20.—From an exciting career of burglary and jail breaking ,which has netted him fifty-two years of prison sentences, of which he spent thirty-two years and a month in actual confinement, "Frank Fores," at the age of 75, is to settle down to a placid life of apple picking in Maries county, Missouri.

"Fores"—which isn't his real name—walked from the Missouri state prison on Saturday, a free man, after serving his fourteenth "hitch" — his eleventh in this state. He announced that he had been given a job in an apple orchard near Vienna and was going there. At one time he had a wife and family, but they died a long while back. But for the three terms served in prisons in other states, "Flores" would have equalled the record of the famous "Dutch Charley," who put in fourteen sentences in the Missouri prison.

Fores served his first term in the Joliet (Ill.) prison, beginning in 1867. He went back there in 1872, and later served a five year term in the Fort Madison, Ohio, prison for robbing a postoffice. In 1885 he first became acquainted with the Missouri penitentiary as an inmate and has spent most of his time there since. He managed to escape the habitual criminal act probably through the fact that he has never been tried more than twice in any one county in the state. His trade, before taking up that of burglary, was engineering.

Some of the names under which "Fores" has been convicted are: John Forbes, F. Crawford, F. Allen, H. Lyford, Charles Wood, Allen Johnson, C. H. Adams, F. Morten and F. Martin.
